

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

VOL. XIV, NO. 19.

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1923.

$2.00 YEARLY

Death has called Mrs. John Denoon of Westville, Nova Scotia, to her eternal reward. Mrs. Denoon was the mother of Rev. Dr. A. H. Denoon, formerly of Knox Presbyterian church at Lethbridge, and now pastor of Avenue Road Presbyterian church, Toronto. Mrs. Denoon was eighty-two years of age. Another son, James, of San Francisco, and three daughters, Mrs. J. Henry Bighault, of San Francisco; Mrs. A. H. A. Robinson, of Peterboro, Ontario, and Mrs. Henry C. McDonald, of Westville, survive.

The town council regular meeting will be held on Monday night next.

C. G. I. T. CONCLAVE AT BELLEVUE

A convalee of the C. G. I. T. groups was held in Bellevue church on Thursday, May 3rd. There were two groups of girls, one senior and one junior from Bellevue, Hillcrest and Blaimore. Miss F. Hallworth, who was grand president, presided throughout the evening, and Mrs. H. Peters had charge of the Bellevue girls. Mrs. Pinder and Miss Reid had charge of the Hillcrest girls and Mrs. Young and Miss Fulton accompanied the Blaimore girls. The convalee began with a banquet in the basement of the church, which every girl did justice to, then they reptiled upstairs where the first part of the program competition was held. The seniors competed against the seniors and the juniors against juniors. The several items were judged by a committee of six ladies who gave satisfactory reports. A part of the C. G. I. T. training is to get the girls to accept cheerfully the decisions of referees on those in charge and that is partly the object of convales.

There were songs, speeches and yells from each group and in the gymnasium afterwards they competed in group games, potato race and Indian club relay race.

The following are the points awarded:

	Seniors	Song	Yell	Sp'ch	G'me	Tl.
Bellevue	19.1	17.5	17.1	40	92.7
Hillcrest	17	19.6	14.6	25	76.2

A. B. McMurdo, of Pincher Creek, has been appointed a commissioner for oaths.

HARRY BERRY KILLED AT LUMBERTON, B. C.

Word reaches us from Pincher Creek of the death of Harry Berry, who was killed accidentally near Lumberton, B. C., where he has been employed for some time. No particulars are available. Mrs. Berry and two children arrived at Lumberton but recently from Pincher Creek to take up residence there.

Harry was well and favorably known in Blaimore, having lived and worked here for several years, during which period he became married to Miss Chatfield, of Frank. Later he entered the livery and auto repair business at Coleman, going into partnership with Mr. Chaput.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Berry reside at Pincher Creek.

DEATH OF JOHN LOUGHRAN

There passed away in the early hours of Saturday morning, in his room at the Alberta hotel, John Loughran, an aged miner, who for some years has resided in this district.

Mr. Loughran was in his sixty-third year. Of late he had been complaining of failing health. On Friday he was around town and conversing with friends stating that he feared his time was nearing an end. On Tuesday night of last week he was in Bellevue and while there removed an Oddfellow's emblem from the lapel of his coat and placed it on the coat of a brother Oddfellow, stating that he felt he would not be privileged to wear it many more days and that it would serve to remember him by.

Mr. Loughran went to his room on Friday night about 9 o'clock and retired. When found on Saturday evening he was lying in a comfortable position and appeared as though he had passed away in his sleep.

He leaves one son and three daughters, two of the latter, Mrs. Harry Dwyer, of Pincher Creek, and Mrs. S. W. Purvis, of Coalhurst, being present at the funeral. The other daughter and son are residing at Vancouver.

Mr. Loughran practiced phrenology and palmistry under the title of Professor Janot, and became popular as a speaker at social functions, at many of which he took occasion to tell stories surrounding poems of his own composition.

Interment took place on Monday afternoon in the Blaimore, Protestant cemetery, following a service conducted at the Union church by Rev. Harry Peters, of Bellevue.

Deceased was a member of Bellevue Lodge, I. O. O. F., and members of that lodge looked after the arrangements. Quite a number of local Oddfellows were also in attendance.

BORDER BANDITS TO BE SHOT

Winnipeg, May 4.—Along with the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, Manitoba will take active measures to prevent border banditry this summer. A fleet of fast and specially constructed motor cars, sawed-off shotguns, machine guns, heavy calibre rifles and tear bombs will be used by provincial border patrols, while a motorcycle squad will be maintained. The patrol has been reorganized and a secret service organization has been built up for the purpose of getting inside information of intended raids, and instructions have been issued to "shoot to kill," and all cars failing to stop when ordered to do so will be fired on.

Last year the southern portion of Manitoba was terrorized by several banditry episodes.

The appointment of Mr. Harry Gate, of Coleman, as commissioner for oaths has been gazetted.

S. TRONO WILL BUILD

TO COAST WITHOUT CROSSING INTO STATES

The contract has been let with E. J. Pozzi for the erection of a large store building in the space between the Sargent and Corner Association blocks on Victoria Street.

The new building is to be of brick construction and will be occupied by Mr. Trono himself as a jewelry store. H. Sejan is also excavating for the foundation of a store to be erected on a lot next west of the Orpheum Theatre building, while Ralph Fazio is preparing to build on the adjoining lot.

All the above are to be large and well appointed and will fill in the only gaps in Blocks 4 and 5 on Victoria Street.

E. J. POZZI BUYS

ENTIRE FRANK SMELTER

The old zinc smelter, which was built at Frank about seventeen years ago at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, was purchased by Contractor E. J. Pozzi last week. The whole structure is being torn down and will be used in buildings in Blaimore. Several tons of metal roofing is being saved, as also a large quantity of iron and steel frame work.

A plucky feat is being attempted by a couple of ex-soldiers, both of whom lost a leg in the great war. They are undertaking to walk from Calgary to Ottawa. The purpose of the hike is to draw attention to the position in which those who suffered the loss of limbs in the war are placed at present. It is claimed, and with good reason, that the pensions paid are inadequate for their proper support, especially in the case of married men.

The American Consul at Fernie advises that in accordance with a ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States, of date April 30, it is unlawful within the terms of the national prohibition act for any vessel, either domestic or foreign, to bring within the United States or its territorial waters any liquor whatever for beverage purposes. Treasury regulations are being prepared to carry this new ruling into effect June 10, 1923, after which date both domestic and foreign ships will be subject thereto without further notice.

MRS. JOHN SIMPSON

Do You Need Help? This Advice is Well Worth Reading!

Kirkton, Ont.—"I have found Doctor Pierce's Ample Tablets to be an excellent medicine. I have been troubled with indigestion in the neck of my bladder for about eight years. I doctored but failed to get cured, so I decided to try Doctor Pierce's Ample (and note acid) Tablets and they have relieved me greatly. I also can recommend Dr. Pierce's Female Prescriptions for expectant mothers. I have a fine, big baby boy. My nurse said what I ate to maintain him strong. He looked like a child four or five months old when only three. I certainly would advise every prospective mother to use Dr. Pierce's Ample Tablets."—Mrs. John Simpson, R.R. 1, Kirkton, Ont.

Valuable Recipes For "The Busy Housewife"

Liberty Raisin Bread

1 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 1 egg, 1 cup whole wheat flour, 1 cup corn meal.

1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup sugar.

1 teaspoon baking powder.

1 cup Sun-Maid seedless raisins floured.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add well-beaten egg, buttermilk, and shortening. Blend well. Add raisins. Beat vigorously. Bake in a shallow pan for 30 minutes.

1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon shortening (melted).

1 teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 to 2 cups sour milk.

2 cups clean bran, 1/4 cup Sun-Maid seeded raisins and chopped nuts.

1/4 to 1/2 cup sweetening.

Sift together the flour, salt and soda and mix with this the bran. Add to the mixture the sweetening, melted shortening and part of the milk; then mix with the dry material. Add the raisins and nuts dusted with flour, and enough milk to form a batter of such consistency that it will drop but not pour from a spoon. Bake in greased muffin pans about one-half hour.

1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon shortening (melted).

1 teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 to 2 cups sour milk.

2 cups clean bran, 1/4 cup Sun-Maid seeded raisins and chopped nuts.

1/4 to 1/2 cup sweetening.

Sift together the flour, salt and soda and mix with this the bran. Add to the mixture the sweetening, melted shortening and part of the milk; then mix with the dry material. Add the raisins and nuts dusted with flour, and enough milk to form a batter of such consistency that it will drop but not pour from a spoon. Bake in greased muffin pans about one-half hour.

1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon shortening (melted).

1 teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 to 2 cups sour milk.

2 cups clean bran, 1/4 cup Sun-Maid seeded raisins and chopped nuts.

HAD TO FIGHT TO GET HIS BREATH

Read Declares Gases Were So Bad He Nearly Choked At Times

"The best I can say is not half good enough for Thelac," states Frederick E. Reed, 256 Roxborough Ave., Hamilton, Ont., well known business man.

"Last winter gripe and tonsillitis confined me to my home for weeks and left me so thin and frail it looked like I could never get back to my business again. I would choke up with gas until I had to fight for breath, was so nauseated I could scarcely retain a thing, and pains in my stomach and sides would double me up. I could scarcely sleep a wink, and my hands were so trembly I couldn't even arrange my tie."

"However, the Thelac treatment suited my case so well it ended my troubles, increased my weight, and fixed me up to where I felt as fine as I ever did. I feel right all the time now, and haven't missed a day from my business since I finished the treatment. Thelac has no equal."

Thelac is for sale by all good drug stores—take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

BOOST YOUR TOWN

"My town is the place where my home is founded, where my business is located, where my vote is cast, where my children are educated, where my neighbors dwell, where my life is chiefly lived. I have chosen it, after due consideration from among all the towns of the earth. It is the home spot for me. My town has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me, and I must support it. My town wants my citizenship not partanship; friendship, not selfishness; co-operation, not dissension; sympathy, not criticism; my intelligent support, not indifference. My town supplies me with law and order, trade and friends; education, morals, decent out, and the rights of a free-born Canadian. I should believe in my town and work for it, and I will."

The above, from an exchange, is good horse sense. It displays the proper spirit, and is applicable to any town. Why should we not all be boosters for this town? The answer must, therefore, be in the affirmative. Every resident should be a supporter to advance this town in every way, and to quote a "Concise," "Make it better day by day, in every way."

5000 FACTS ABOUT CANADA

A popular and handy annual is the "5000 Facts About Canada," issued for twenty years by Frank Yeigh, the well known Canadian writer and lecturer. The 1923 edition is now out and contains many additions and improvements, including a valuable map of the natural resources of the Dominion. The booklet is a wonderful compilation in brief of the story of the Dominion under fifty subjects, ranging from "Agriculture" to "The West" and "The Yukon," and is indispensable to any educated and intelligent Canadian who wants to keep up to date about his country, or who wishes to advertise it by sending copies away, as many do, while it is widely used in schools. Leading news dealers keep the book in stock or it may be had by sending 30 cents for a copy to the CANADIAN FACTS PUBL. CO., 588 Huron St., Toronto.

MOUNTAINS AND VALLEYS
ALONG SKEENA RIVER
MOST WONDERFUL

The changing panoramas of mountains and valleys along the Skeena and Bulkley Rivers of central British Columbia, hold the traveller's constant attention as areas of supreme scenic grandeur unfold themselves as the train skirts valleys and rivers, or winds around mountains, bringing to view quaint Indian villages, with Totem poles of the tribes, or here and there salmon canneries, or mining towns. Interest alternates rapidly along this portion of the Canadian National Railways. Bulkley Gate and Bulkley Canyon are features of great interest, whilst the Bulkley Valley is characterized by its wealth of agricultural land comprising the fertile valley of central British Columbia.

We now feel it a pleasure to take a back seat. Corporal Duncan arrived here on Tuesday to take up duties commanding The Pass detachments of the A. P. P. Mr. Duncan penetrates the elements to the extent of "about six-feet-six, beating our prowess by probably an inch. However, we are now in a position to know what it is to look up to a person. We welcome Corporal Duncan to these parts. He enters upon his new duties immediately, while Sergt. Scott takes up the sub-inspectorate at Lethbridge.

NEWSPAPERS AND ACCURACY

It has taken newspapers a long time to live down the charge that inaccuracy is their major quality. In earlier days, when communication was difficult, rumor frequently went into news, and rumor is fickle. For many years past the supreme goal of every reputable newspaper was scrupulous accuracy, and so large a place has that assumed that it is the essential dividing line between good and bad journalism.

Addressing the National Educational association a few days ago, Dr. Otis Caldwell, a school principal of New York City, said:

"We clipped 3,061 stories upon biological subjects from 492 newspapers in a seventeen-month period, and out of that number only fourteen articles contained inaccuracy. That is a better record than most books can show."

Indeed it is; also it is a record to surprise many a newspaper man, for no one is more aware than he of the fallibility of the human machine, and he, of all men, knows the score of perils a single fact must traverse before it reaches the sanctuary of the printed page. Error in transmission, poor typewriting, pencil slips, typographical mistakes, even the jumbling of type or misplacing of a line when all else has been cared for, may easily wreck a fact and all of this is threatening from the second it is put on paper for filing in Thiboutot or Jumeau until the moment the form is locked for the press.

The striking thing about a reputable newspaper is not that it contains inaccuracies, but that they are so few—Exchanging.

Shakespeare on Cutting Prices
(Apologues to Hamlet)
To cut or not to cut—that is the question:

Whether 'tis better in the end
To let the chap who knows not the worth

Have the business at a cut-throat price, or

To take up arms against his competition.

And by opposing cut for cut, end it.

To cut—and by cutting put the other cutter

Out of business—'tis a consummation

Devoutly to be wished. To cut—to slash!

Perchance myself to get it in the neck—

Aye, there's the rub; for when one starts to meet

The other fellow's prices, 'tis like as not

He's up against it good and hard.

To cut and to slash is not to end the confusion

And the many evils trade is pestered with.

Nay, nay, Pauline, 'tis but the forerunner

Of debt and mortgage such a course portends.

'Tis well to get the price the goods are worth

And not be bluffed into selling them for what

So-and-so will sell his goods for.

Price cutting doth appear unseemly

And fit only for the man who knows not

What his goods are worth, and who ere long,

By stress of making vain comparison

Twixt bank account and liabilities,

Will make his exit from the business.

ERROR IN RECENT

CANADIAN STAMPS

An interesting heraldic mistake in the design of the entire Georgian series of Canadian postage stamps has only recently been noticed.

It appears that a philatelist visited the office of the post office inspector in one of the western provinces and asked by what right the Queen's crown appeared upon all stamps of that series instead of the King's crown. The inspector shortly afterwards was in Ottawa, enjoying the privilege of seeing the plant of the British American Bank Note Co., and witnessing how postage stamps are made and there pointed out to a high official of the firm the obvious mistake that appeared.

PRESENTATION TO

MISS W. DICKEN

(From The Stettler Independent)

The employees of the town made a presentation to Miss Winnie Dickenson, late assistant in the town office, on Monday afternoon, April 30th, consisting of a leather travelling bag. The address was read and the presentation made by the town secretary, Mr. E. Roberts after a few remarks in appreciation of Miss Dicken's services had been made by Mayor Sharpe and Councillor Fox. Miss Dicken was unable to reply to the address and asked Mr. C. L. Willis to do so which he did by thanking the town employees for their very appropriate and useful gift. One of Miss Dicken's chief regrets in leaving Stettler was that she was forced to give up her position in the town office, a work that she had always enjoyed and she wished to convey to the town and its employees her wishes for a prosperous future.

The address was as follows:

"Stettler, April 30, 1923.

Dear Miss Dicken:

We, your fellow employees, having heard of your pending departure from our midst, take this opportunity of expressing our admiration of your many sterling qualities.

You have been diligent and conscientious in the performance of your oft-times arduous duties, always having a pleasant and cheerful smile for all.

We sincerely trust that in your new sphere of work you may meet with much success.

In wishing you farewell, we would ask your acceptance of the small token of our respect which accompanies this address.

We know that you will prize it, not so much for the intrinsic value, but rather as a happy remembrance of the pleasant years we have worked together.

Yours sincerely,

Employees Town of Stettler."

Before leaving Stettler, Miss Dicken was also made recipient of a beautiful gift from the members of the Rebekah Lodge.

The editor of the B. C. Veteran Weekly, which has been carrying a series of football competitions, has been convicted and paid a fine a few days ago, and was warned to discontinue the illegal practice.

Miss Violet Sargent has resigned the position of matron of the local hospital and is succeeded by Miss McDougall. Miss Sargent left here on Wednesday morning to visit friends at Nelson, B. C., after which, it is said, she will proceed towards Ontario, where an event of importance is to take place.

IN THE SENATE

Hon. W. A. Griesbach
On Conditions in Europe.

Another condition of the treaty was that the taxation of Germany should be equal to the taxation of the Allies. Mr. Holt Schelling, a statistician of repute in France, has prepared this statement. He says that in 1922 British average taxation was 22 pounds per head; the average French taxpayer paid 3 pounds per head. In other words, French taxation is almost three times that of Germany. The British debt per head is 197 pounds; French debt per head, 149 pounds; German debt per head 24 pounds. Both in taxation and debt the Germans are the least of the three.

I have said that the damages to France occasioned by the Germans was 102 billions of francs, and in the past three years France has raised from her own people, from her own resources, and spent in repairing damage done by Germans in France $7,500,000. The war did not cost Germany one inch of soil, one factory destroyed, one sugar beet pulled up, one electric plant broken; and in those three years Germany has paid to France one and a quarter billions of dollars, and that nearly always in kind, and most of it is involuntarily given up, that is, shipping, etc.

France has decided that, in view of the conduct of Germany, and in view of all the situation, she will take some measures herself to secure the carrying out of the treaty. I am not going to discuss the differences of opinion; I am only saying she has decided to do that for herself.

It would be interesting to the House to know exactly what the Ruhr is: Approximate area, 1,234 square miles; approximate population four million; laboring population 1,600,000 coal miners 500,000; coal production in 1913, 113,000,000 tons; visible black coal reserve, 54,000,000,000 tons; visible brown coal reserve (lignite) 4,000,000,000 tons; estimated unmined coal, 220,000,000,000 tons; pig iron production 5,000,000 tons; steel production in 1918, 10,000,000 tons; stock companies in operation, 887; invested capital, $900,000,000. Other industries: textile mills, iron and steel implements, machinery, factories, linen mills, salt works, coke ovens.

In coal and iron it is one of the richest districts in the world. In the production of salt and textiles it has few rivals in Germany. Before the war its coal fields worked to 40 per cent of their capacity and produced 90,000,000 tons a year. It is only second in the world to the Pennsylvania field. In corresponding ratio, 5,000,000 tons of pig iron were produced, which was 20 per cent of Germany's entire output and 10 per cent of the world supply.

My right honorable friend referred the other day to Anglo-Saxon opinion, and I have drawn your attention to the fact that Anglo-Saxon opinion itself is divided. But there is an official opinion. Let me give you some unofficial opinions in the States as to the propriety of France's action. Dr. Van Dyke is a publicist, an economist and a writer, and he says this:

"France is trying an emergency measure made necessary in part by America's failure to enter the League of Nations. Germany says she cannot pay for the ruin she has wrought, but meantime her profiteers and munition-makers are rolling up their billions. France says, collect from these men. Germany says she cannot do it. France says, I will help you. That is what the occupation of the Ruhr Basin means. It is not an invasion of Germany. It is the serving of a writ on Stinnes, Thyssen and Krupp-Gohlen. It is dangerous, but every emergency measure involves danger. America prays for a peaceful result. But what narrow-minded devil has prevented us from working for it?"

Mr. Daniels, ex-Secretary of the Navy, gives this contribution to the unofficial American opinion:

"Right or wrong, France has evoked every provocation, and I doubt under the circumstances if any nation would have waited any longer. France has to set now or acquiesce in letting Germany escape payment. France has waited four years, taxing its people four times as much as Germany taxed its people. Germany's default is believed by France to have been deliberate and studied. In this belief France acted."

Now let me read some unofficial Anglo-Saxon opinion from England. The Saturday Review says:

"Great Britain cannot plead that she is not responsible for the present state of France. We must share the responsibility, however unpleasant. From the treaties of 1919 we obtained all for which we stipulated, namely the German colonies, the German fleet and mercantile marine, Iraq and Palestine. Some of these may be of doubtful value, and perhaps the fruit of Lloyd George admiring himself in the mirror of Bismarck, but they are what we asked for.

"The French, on the other hand, have had to ask for nothing but disappointments. Legitimate reparations were placed under a vast indemnity to fulfil Lloyd George's election pledges. In Europe the only country that has been restored is East Prussia, and the only country that has obtained security has been Great Britain.

"If the French were not convinced that Germany was trifling with them, they would not have undertaken their difficult enterprise. It is probable the French understand the Teuton better than we do. At his events they have set out in quest of reparations. If they do not find them perhaps they find security. They are entitled to both."

Now let me read to you a Canadian unofficial opinion from Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, of Toronto, a man whom every one in Canada has heard about. In a letter published in the Mail and Empire of February 21, 1923, he says:

"A Bankrupt Government Does Not Mean a Bankrupt Country."

"Sir: I see that various speakers are apparently trying to create an impression of unanimity in the public mind that the entry by France into the Ruhr is a colossal mistake and may lead to war, and certainly cannot advance the obtaining of reparations justly due from Germany."

"I am quite certain that these gentlemen undoubtedly are not as well informed as the French authorities and are taking their cue from Lloyd George. The statements of that gentleman both before the Peace Conference, at the Peace Conference and since, are not such as to warrant any great confidence in his judgment. I think most people agree that Germany has deliberately made herself bankrupt, so that she can with her old in her position disown all her national obligations apart from reparations and leave her people practically free from the necessity of taxation.

"The mistake, I think, that the speakers I refer to make, is in thinking that a bankrupt government means a bankrupt country. No doubt the government of Germany is bankrupt, but everything points to the conclusion that German factories have not closed; many of them have extended their plants; there is practically no unemployment in Germany; their trade has gone up by leaps and bounds; their steamship companies, manufacturing concerns, etc., have paid off their bonded indebtedness, etc., and the French have apparently come to the conclusion that the country is perfectly able to pay if they realize that they are going to be compelled to pay; and I think I echo the sentiment of most people when I say that I hope that France, who must be thoroughly alive to the pros and cons of the situation, may turn out to be correct, and make the Germans come to the conclusion that they have to settle. I depreciate entirely the continual assertion and suggestion that France is in the wrong. It may be, and again it may not. People out here who know anything about it should suspend judgement.

Yours, etc.,

(Sgd) Wallace Nesbitt.

With regard to this amount of 32 billions which Germany has been required to pay, and which my right honorable friend the other day said she could not pay, let me suggest two thoughts to the House. First of all, you must get used to big amounts in a discussion of this sort. Who would have thought in 1913 that Canada could raise 500,000 men and expend in the war $2,000,000,000, and export from Canada $1,000,000,000 worth of war materials? Who would have thought that? Who would have thought that Great Britain herself would expend $25,000,000 a day for four years in the prosecution of the war? Again I say we must forget big amounts.

People say that Germany cannot pay, and that the amount is too large. What we mean to say is this, that Germany cannot pay by means of the ordinary methods of taxation and finance. But this is an extraordinary case; this is not an ordinary case at all. Germany can pay, and Germany must be made to pay, and Germany must pay if her people sweat blood for the next fifty years in order to pay. That should be the attitude on approaching this question. The fact is that if she does not pay, then our friend and ally, France, must sweat blood for the next fifty years. That is the alternative before them.

My honorable friend the other day professed to think—and there is a large school of thought officially of that opinion—that there are grave doubts as to whether Great Britain could pay the United States the $4,300,000,000 which she owes, the payment of which has been spread over a period of sixty-two years, or, as my right honorable friend pointed out, two generations. He expressed great doubt as to whether Great Britain can pay that, and he argues from this that Germany will find it impossible to pay $32,000,000,000. Well, let me say to my right honorable friend and to those who think as he does: Be of good cheer; lift up your hearts. If you seek for encouragement, for hope or for inspiration in this matter, turn to France. Poor, broken, devastated, bleeding France—who not in 62 years, not in two generations, but in three years, has from her own resources secured and paid, to make good the devastations wrought by Germany in France, not $4,600,000,000, but $7,500,000,000. France fights or her life in this matter, for her right to live and to survive. Unless those reparations are paid, the burden of this war will rest on France, who helped to win the war, and who was the aggrieved party from the beginning.

Fear that the Germans will come again must be removed if there is to be peace in Europe. You cannot have peace with nations in fear. Fear makes war. Remove fear, and you ensure peace. The French are our friends and allies. They are linked to us by ties of honor and of interest, and they are linked by ties of kinship to half the people of this country. They stand and they have stood between civilization and Bolshevism. By their unparalleled sacrifice and extraordinary exertions in the late-war they have won our sympathy and our respect, and they are entitled to our loyalty. France today is still the France of Verdun and the Marne. Our dead and theirs sleep side by side. Seven hundred thousand and white crosses mutely declare to all the world our unselfish devotion to their cause, which was ours. Ours is the friendship of a thousand undying memories of the tragedies and glories of the past.

France today fights for her life. Confident in the righteousness, and justice of her cause, she moves steadily forward. She has counted the cost; she has made her plans; she will succeed—she cannot help but succeed.

In August of 1918 I had the somewhat unique privilege, as a Canadian officer, to command French troops. A secret relief was taking place, and as my battalions went out French battalions came in, and finally I found myself in command of six French battalions, with artillery and auxiliary services. My subordinate French officers were aggressive in the offensive, and the battle continuously raged. It no longer died out at one place than it broke out in another. Frequently at night I would be awakened by the roar of the French artillery and the rattle of their machine guns, and the night sky would be illuminated by the flashes of the flame and the flare and signal rockets, and I would apprehensively, and nervously, perhaps, call out in English to the French soldier who was at the door of my shelter. "Phonon!" "Mon, General!" "Faites sauter les lignes!" And my sentence would go up on the parapet, look over the top, survey the situation, and make his report: "Tres tranquille, General!" His answer was always the same no matter how the battle raged. To him it was always "quiet on the line." I can recall him as he stood at the door of my shelter in his horizon blue, and steel helmet, with his long rifle and bayonet—very alert, very erect and very serene—typical of the courage, the energy, the determination and efficiency of his race. And I am wondering how it is with France. A great war is on again, and a great moral battle rages and great political games are booming, with one eye on Europe and the other on the situation affecting their own political lives in the country in which they live. An ill-informed press, quibbling lawyers, so-called experts in finance and economics, pacifists, defeatists, socialists, and communists have all joined their simian chatter to the general chorus. I am wondering how it is with France in this time of doubt and perplexity. Are her public men party strife? Are her public men divided? Her incomparable army, just its old-time power? Is her morale endangered? And somehow there comes to me across the leagues that lie between, the answer of this gallant and sorely tried people, and the answer is in the tone and in the language of my French sentry on the plains of Amiens, serenely and proudly confident: "Tres tranquille, mon General."

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Tucker, of Mantoloking, is the guest of Mrs. Boothiller.

The Ladies' Aid met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Stewart. Collection taken was three dollars.

Ralph Easterbrook has returned from Lethbridge, where he has been taking medical treatment. He is much improved in health, we are glad to say.

Double-Ender and Driver.

In the passing of Charles Clarke at his Toronto home, the Canadian Pacific lost one of its oldest locomotive engineers. In the pioneer days of Canadian railroads, the late Mr. Clarke used to drive an old wood-burning engine known as a double-ender, and the engine on which he made his first run as engineer on the Canadian Pacific is shown above. He was born in England 76 years ago and started railroad work at the age of eighteen with the old Midland line, joining the company from whose service he was retired about twelve years after.

MOVING PICTURE COMPANY

SHIPPING IN PROPERTIES

Mr. H. Reviere returned from Banff on Tuesday and is engaged in the management and transportation of a car load of properties of The Trimble Murfin Production Company, to his ranch, "Victoria" at the Head of Pincher Creek, near Victoria Peak Mountain.

The properties include ten wolves, 3 bears and about thirty dogs, including Strong Heart, (all picture fans know Strong Heart). Eight loads have already gone to the ranch and four more will follow.

Mr. Trimble is to arrive in town Friday, accompanied by Strong Heart. Mr. Trimble will look over the scenery and if he finds it adaptable to production work intends making a permanent studio at Victoria Ranch, and it will be necessary to install a electric light plant, etc., for picture production.

The Company have been engaged in producing Jack London's book "White Fang," the winter scenes having just recently been completed at Lake Louise and Banff. Mr. Trimble, accompanied by Mr. Reviere and a number of artists will leave shortly for California, where the interior scenes of the picture will be filmed, returning in July to take the summer scenes, using the scenery near Pincher Creek.

They also plan on making the "Phantom Pack," the scenario, written by Miss Murfin. These pictures, at any rate, will be produced here, and in all probability many others.—Pincher Creek Echo.

MODERN GOLF

By W. G. Frank Thompson

NOTED CANADIAN GOLFERS

BALANCE

The manner in which the body plays its part decided largely the success of the golf swing. Balance is important in every game, but in none is it so hard to achieve as in golf. This is mostly due to the fact that the stance is a stationary one which necessitates a twist of the body resulting in a circular swing, while in other games the stance changes more or less permitting a straight or direct blow. Balance should be maintained at all times for without it anything approaching consistent golf is impossible. It should also be accomplished in the easiest and most natural manner.

It is not an uncommon sight, however, to see a player at the finish of the stroke struggling desperately to maintain his equilibrium. This causes the swing to look awkward, and at the same time makes the shot less effective. Part of the energy which should have gone into the blow has been dissipated maintaining balance. The beginner finds great difficulty in controlling his weight, whereas the accomplished golfer impresses one with the ease and grace with which he controls his body. The reason for this is that the latter has learned a correct pivot which will make or mar the swing more than any other factor.

One may have a fine wrist action and generally manipulate the club very well, but unless the work of the hands and arms is facilitated by a good pivot, their effectiveness will be largely neutralized. Much misapprehension exists in regard to the pivot. The traditional and generally accepted view of it is that the left knee turns in toward the right one, so that the weight gets generally on the inside of the left foot from the ball of the big toe to its end. This method of pivoting has certain difficulties inherent in it. If one examines the movements the left knee is capable of, he will discover that the natural one is straight forward, or that which is employed in walking. In fact the knee joint is so constructed that it can not move to the side. When one starts the swing by moving the left knee towards the right there is the greatest tendency to sway the body, and the fact that swaying the body is prevalent among beginners may be due not in the least to their faulty methods of pivoting. With this method a sway is the natural result unless the player break at the waist which is undoubtedly wrong, for then the whole plane of the swing is changed. The hips should not go down nor up, nor should the shoulders either. The hips should twist around on the same level. Because of the slight stoop at the waist the shoulders will also twist around in the same way without any dipping or raising.

The most effective blow in golf can be delivered with the right elbow close to the body and with the club at the top of the swing somewhere slightly over the right shoulder. In my opinion the pivot that permits this position being reached in the simplest and most direct manner is not where the left knee turns toward the right, but rather where the left knee points directly at the ball, which is its natural movement. When this happens the weight instead of being on the inside of the left foot is directly across the whole of the front foot from the big toe to the little one. One has only to experiment with these methods to realize how much firmer the whole foundation of the swing is in the latter method. It permits the swing being made with one and also reduces the movement of the shoulders or breaking at the waist, and also reduces the movement of the head to a minimum.

It seems to me there must always be a slight turning of the head, not very perceptible but nevertheless present, for at the top of the swing the shoulders have moved from a position in the address parallel with the line of flight to a right angle, which I think it impossible without slightly turning the head unless the player is some kind of an acrobat. The point to notice, however, is that the slight turning of the head does not change the plane of the swing. With the other method of pivoting, the head must either sway with the body, or worse still, must be kept stationary by the artifice of 'breaking' at the waist which robs the swing of its power and makes the balance more difficult to maintain. By pointing the left knee at the ball, the twisting movement is done at the hips, which are admirably fitted for this movement. It is almost impossible to sway in this way or as Duncan would say: it is easier to keep within the circle. Furthermore, there is not the same temptation to overswing, and the whole foundation of the swing is firmer than before. A harder blow can be delivered by pivoting in this method in a smaller area than is possible with the other.

The lengthening of Braid's tee shot which has always been a mystery, might be explained by a new method of pivoting. One bright and happy day for Braid he discovered that he had lengthened his drive by some 30 yards, which made him one of the longest hitters of the game. To Braid the cause was inexplicable except that he suggested that his muscles had worked smoother. It is unreasonable to think that his muscles had developed overnight. My own guess is that he accidentally hit upon some trick that helped him to maintain his balance, so that he was firmer on his feet and consequently enabled to deliver a faster blow. The strong muscles of the leg are in a better position to pull the body into position, when the left knee points to the ball than the other method, for they do all their work in this direction.

The writer hopes to have something further on this subject of interest to beginners in a later article dealing with their faults.

OCEAN TRAVEL COMBINED WITH SUPERB SCENERY

A 500-mile cruise in ocean waters, via Grand Trunk Pacific steamships, from Vancouver to Alaska coast, along the "Inside Passage" affords all the delights of ocean travel combined with superb scenery. It is impossible to over-estimate the value of a sea-trip as a restorative for tired mind and body. Seated on the spacious decks of the SS Prince Rupert, or SS Prince George, looking over the wild waste of waters, inhaling the invigorating purity of salt sea air, one is enraptured by the subtle presence of the sea, the languid swell of the waves, and the wash of the water against the ship's side. Many travellers want no better holiday than the time spent aboard one of these full-fitted steamships; every hour being filled with enjoyment, whether spent in contemplation of the glories of nature or in happy social life which develops as the journey proceeds, with deck games, concerts and dancing aboard one of these palatial steamships.

Mrs. Emma B. Burr, of Detroit, arrived last week end to spend a few days here with her father, Capt. W. A. Beebe. Mrs. Burr is a prominent U. S. Rebekah member and one of the most active, and is captain of the Rebekah degree team that has won the championship of the United States on several occasions.

Additional Pressure Will Be Applied By The French In Ruhr

Düsseldorf.—That the Ruhr will be ruled with a firmer hand than heretofore, now that the latest German reparations offer has been refused by the French and Belgian Governments, was the gist of an announcement made at French headquarters here.

Just what additional pressure will be applied was not made known, but it is assumed that Gen. Degoutte is planning to put into effect some of his decrees already promulgated, but not yet enforced.

One decree, issued a month ago, provides that all vehicular traffic, whether motor, steam or horse propelled, will come under the immediate supervision of the military authorities if they are liable to be used for transporting coal. The Germans say if this decree is enforced, it would shut down all Ruhr industries within a month.

All cookies, except those worked by the French and Belgians, have been closed. The Germans estimate that the stocks on hand will all have been shipped out of the Ruhr within two weeks.

Developing Empire Resources

British Government May Extend Imperial Preference If Necessary

London.—In the House of Lords Lord Marlborough moved a resolution requesting a definition of the Government's imperial policy and urging the linking up of the questions of imperial migration and preference.

Lord Long, inquired the Government to show the Dominion that "we appreciated their overtures."

The Earl of Beauchamp declined to believe that the loyalty of the Dominion would be increased by a tax on British food.

The Duke of Devonshire, replying, said that, when the occasion arose, he hoped the Government would be able to still further extend the principle of Imperial preference which had been laid down by his predecessor. Referring to state-aided immigration, he said that, if the Government required wider powers, they would not hesitate to come to Parliament for them. The question of immigration was not a policy of despair for the purpose of battling with temporary unemployment conditions but a question of means whereby the great untapped natural resources of the Empire could be turned to useful account.

Law Must Be Observed

Ships Within U.S. Territorial Waters Liable to Control

London.—Duncan Miller, M.P., raised a question in the House of Commons regarding the report that the United States Navy intend to use its navy to prevent rum running and asked what steps Great Britain proposed taking to prevent the possibility of armed conflict with vessels of a friendly power.

Stanley Baldwin, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Government spokesman, said in reply: "I have no official information regarding the alleged intention of the United States Government to use its navy for preventative work, but I hesitate to believe that a friendly power would attack British ships on the high seas."

"If, however, British ships break the United States law within United States territorial waters they naturally render themselves liable to any general measures of control which the United States Government may institute."

Ottawa Urged To Find Method For Controlling Lake Freight Rates

Ottawa.—The Senate heard a session talk regarding Western Canadian when Hon. John G. Turfitt, of Assinibois, Sask., urged that the Government find some method of controlling lake freight rates and insurance, as the Canadian people "were being robbed, both on the lakes and on the Atlantic." If the west came to the conclusion that there was no possibility of redress, there would be a strong secession movement to that part of the country, Senator Turfitt said.

Senator W. H. Bennett, of St. Louis, Ont., voiced strong opposition to the sale of the vessels of the Government Merchant Marine on the Great Lakes, advocating that these vessels be kept

WESTERN LAND SALES

PRE-EMPTIONS NOT SOLD SPECIFICALLY FOR HUDSON BAY RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION

Ottawa.—John Evans (Progressive, Saskatchewan) asked in the House if the proceeds from the sale of pre-emption lands under the Hudson Bay Act 1908, for the sale of land for Hudson Bay Railway construction, but pre-emption lands were sold under the provisions of that act, replied Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior.

"How much money has been realized from that source to date," pursued Mr. Evans.

"This sale of pre-emption lands yielded $15,649, 674 to March 31, 1923," replied the minister.

"Was any other trust fund created for the purpose of constructing the Hudson Bay Railway?" "Not so far as the Interior Department is aware," said Mr. Stewart.

Discovers Tuberculosis Cure

Canadian Doctor Assisted in Work by Pennsylvania Physician

Pittsburg.—A cure for pulmonary tuberculosis, by the use of pure carbon and calcium gas, is claimed by Dr. Walter F. Nolan, of Jonestown, Pa. Dr. Nolan has informed members of the Westmoreland County Medical Society that the cure is possible through the inhalation of practically pure carbon in an amorphous form, and calcium in the form of carbonate, phosphate, chloride and lactate. Seventy-two cases, mostly far advanced, he said, have responded to the treatment so well that they could be pronounced cured. He said he had been assisted in reaching his conclusions by Dr. Oskar Klotz, of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Ottawa.—Dr. Oskar Klotz, 45, who is a son of Dr. Otto Klotz, Director of the Dominion Observatory, recently returned from Brazil, where he was engaged in research work for the Rockefeller Foundation. He will shortly assume the position of professor of pathology and bacteriology at the University of Toronto.

Japanese Shippers

Lose Heavily

Million Lost By One Line in Six Months

Tokio.—Unable to stand the competition of British and American ships, Japanese shipping companies continue to report heavy losses. The Toyo Kisen Kaisha, which operates a line between Japan and San Francisco, incurred a net loss for the second half of 1922 amounting to $1,218,392. It was announced some time ago that the company would pay a 5 per cent. dividend on the year's operations, but this has been withdrawn.

Broadcasting at Sea

Ottawa.—Installation of radio broadcasting apparatus on marine department scouting vessels which observe the movement of mackerel shoals is announced by the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

"We are a good deal happier because of a lot of things we don't know."

ONLY TWO CANADIAN CATTLE DISEASED

MORE FREE FROM TUBERCULOSIS THAN IRISH OR ENGLISH

London.—With reference to the statement made by Dr. Davidson, Medical Health Officer and Port Sanitary Authority for Manchester, that Canadian store cattle which arrived at the port of Manchester, were not altogether free from pulmonary tuberculosis, it is reported from Manchester that of 1,200 Canadian store cattle which arrived there were only two seized and portions of their carcasses destroyed.

No animals passed by the Board of Agriculture's Inspector at the Manchester wharf, it is further reported, showed signs of any of the three notable diseases among cattle, and Dr. Davidson states that from his observations the Canadian cattle were more free from tuberculosis than the Irish or English cattle.

No Political Interference

Sir Henry Thornton Says There Has Been No Attempt to Influence Him

Hamilton.—At one time Sir Henry Thornton had an ambition to be a police chief, he stated here, but his ambition to look after crime led him to do the next best thing—to look after the Canadian National Railway.

No politician had attempted to influence him in any way in any important decision, he said. "They had to make a success of public ownership whether they liked it or not, for it was here to stay."

The C.P.R. had shown a spirit of co-operation, and the two big roads would work hand in hand for the welfare and development of Canada, he said.

Grain Trade Inquiry

Arrangements, Being Made to Hold Investigation Soon As Possible

Ottawa.—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has asked Mr. Justice Turgeon to come to Ottawa at once and discuss arrangements for the inquiry into the grain trade, which the Governments of Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are consenting parties. "It is planned that the inquiry will commence as soon as possible, and, while conducted mainly in the west, it will also embrace Fort William in its itinerary. Counsel will be appointed to general by assist the commission."

A revision of the Grain Act has been contemplated for some time, but in view of the coming investigation, this will be deferred until the commission submits its report. The amendments will be based on its findings.

Awarded Scholarships

Saskatoon.—Muriel Paul, a 1923 graduate of the University of Saskatchewan, and Robert England, B.A., teacher at Hartford, Sask., were awarded the Saskatchewan Government scholarships. The scholarships are valued at $1,200 and are awarded annually to men and women engaged in study or teaching so that they may continue their studies in France.

Don't Want Canadian Cattle

London.—A resolution strongly protesting against the admission of Canadian breeding cattle to the United Kingdom was passed at the annual meeting of the Somersetshire Agricultural Association at Bath.

U.S. Liquor Ruling

American Government Takes Stand Respecting Three-Mile Limit

Washington.—The United States Government, taking a position with regard to the transportation of liquor into territorial waters of the United States, decreed that the rigorous interpretation of the prohibition law given by the Supreme Court shall become effective June 10.

Secretary of State Hughes was requested by the treasury to communicate notice of the decision to all foreign governments. The treasury, which has jurisdiction over all prohibition enforcement, suggested that the state department advise foreign governments that all ships entering the three-mile limit will be subject to the new application of the law without exemption, and that no further pronouncement may be expected from this Government regarding the effective date.

Alberta Constable Dead

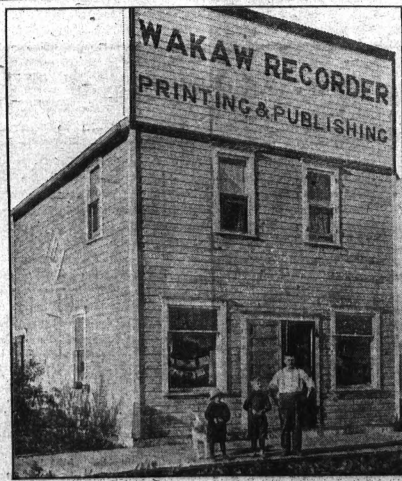

Succumbs to Injuries Received While Attempting to Make Arrest

Calgary.—Constable Clifflie Paris died in the hospital at Drumheller as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident while attempting to arrest two men in an automobile on a liquor charge. Constable Paris, accompanied by Chief Fletcher, jumped on the running board of the car in the street in Drumheller, and ordered the men to stop. The car was speeded up, finally crashing into a fence and wrecking it.

Elmo E. Tryder, the driver, and Dan B. Buchanan, are held in Drumheller jail. Chief Fletcher received bruises. In a dying statement Constable Paris is reported to have said the car was driven close to telephone poles to crash the men off the running board. Ten cases of liquor were found in the car.

Would Probe Sugar Prices

Winnipeg.—Claiming that there is no justification for the advance in sugar prices, the Women's Labor League of Winnipeg will request the Federal Government to institute an investigation. The league is urging a boycott by Winnipeg housewives against the use of sugar, and intends to make a concerted effort with the housewives of the United States and Canada to force a reduction in the price of the commodity.

BRITISH TRADE IMPROVING

BUSINESS BETTER DESPITE MANY DISPUTES IN INDUSTRIAL CIRCLES

London.—Despite the disputes brewing in the industrial, shipping and railway world, British trade generally keeps improving, says the monthly summary of business conditions in the United Kingdom issued by the American Chamber of Commerce in London. Fifteen vessels aggregating 51,731 tons, were launched by Clyde builders during the month, says the survey, while one large Belfast firm was received an order for the construction of three lines for a single company. The manufacturers of motor-cycles are taking record orders.

The number of unemployed has been reduced to 1,239,300, the lowest figure in two years.

Present Air Force Inadequate

Not Strong Enough For Great Britain's Home Defence

London.—Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for Air, speaking at the Constitutional Club, declared that, in view of Great Britain's obligations abroad, her air forces were insufficiently strong for home defence. He appealed on behalf of the Government for help in the formation of a national air policy.

Sir Samuel expressed the view that the Imperial air communications should have a prominent place in the agenda of the Imperial Conference in the autumn and he wanted to see the Empire take the lead in air powers.

New Cable to South Pacific

One From Vancouver Island Is to Be Duplicated

Victoria.—The All-Red Cable between Bamfield, Vancouver Island, and Fanning Island in the South Pacific, will be duplicated this summer by the Pacific Cable Board. The steamer Colonia is expected to arrive at Bamfield before the end of August with the cable end. The length laid by the Restorer will be enough off Bamfield on completion of the laying, to be linked up with the longer strip by the Colonia on her arrival.

Protest Against Turk Grant

London.—The British High Commissioner in Constantinople, has been instructed to register an emphatic protest against the grant by the Turks of rights within the Kingdom of Irak (Mesopotamia) to declare that Great Britain cannot recognize the validity of any such grant.

This was announced in the House of Commons in a statement on the Chester concessions by Lieutenant-Colonel Albert Buckley, speaking on the Foreign Office.

Earthquake Recorded

Victoria.—The seismograph at Gonzales Observatory on May 2 recorded an earthquake of moderate intensity at a distance of about 170 miles from Victoria. The disturbance lasted for an hour.

France Warns Turkey Over Military Move On Syrian Frontier

Lausanne.—France has officially warned Turkey anew that she does not like the Turkish concentration of troops on the Syrian frontier, and has added that if Turkish military pressure on the Syrian border is not removed, it may be difficult for France to go on with the Lausanne peace negotiations.

The French charge delivered the warning to Constantinople and Gen. Pelle, the French High Commissioner, repeated it to Ismet Pasha, who said he would refer the point to his Home Government.

What Gen. Pelle practically told Ismet was that France refused to be bluffed. The latest and more official notification to Turkey goes a step further and, according to the French spokesman, plainly indicates to Ankara that failure to liquidate the questions satisfactorily to France may render continuation of the Lausanne pourparlers problematical so far as France is concerned.

The Turkish representatives issued a statement maintaining they had a "perfect" right to mobilize troops in Cilicia.

Ottawa.—Third reading was given in the House of Commons to the bill to limit the importation of liquor into the wet provinces of Quebec and British Columbia, but with an important amendment.

The bill, as submitted, provided that liquor could be imported into such provinces only by the provincial authority, manufacturers and exporters. As amended by Government motion, exporters are excluded and, apart from the provincial commission, only distillers and manufacturers are allowed to import, and that for purposes of blending or flavoring their products.

"Honorable members," said Sir Louis St. Laurent, Minister of Justice, referring to comments on British Columbia, "are very much opposed, and rightly so, to the bootlegging that is carried on in that province. My honorable friends object to licenses to exporters. Well, I am prepared to drop that."

The amendment submitted by W. G. McQuarrie (Conservative, New Westminster), to provide for a plebiscite on this question, was defeated, George Black (Conservative, Yukon), declared that the fight against bootlegging in British Columbia was a "sham fight."

Mr. Black said that the effect of the legislation was to put in force what was known as the Doherty Act, without a vote of the people. He strongly protested against the legislation, and stated that the people of British Columbia was opposed to permitting private individuals to sell liquor in that province, but it was also opposed to any move to prevent importation by private individuals.

British Want Canadian Trade

Anxious to Extend Pre-War Business Says Commissioner

Toronto.—A determined effort on the part of British manufacturers to recover and extend their pre-war business in Canada is evidenced by the number of representatives of United Kingdom firms who have visited Toronto during the past few weeks.

F. W. Field, the British Government Commissioner in Toronto, stated that hardly a day passed without a visit to his office from a trade visitor from the United Kingdom.

Fighting High Price of Sugar

Washington.—The Women's Universal Alliance has joined the ranks of the women's organizations in their war against the rising price of sugar through adoption of a resolution urging housewives to reduce the consumption of the commodity to a minimum "until the present crisis is over and normal prices prevail."

Grant For Dr. Banting

Toronto.—Dr. F. G. Banting, of the University of Toronto, who, together with C. H. Best, discovered insulin for the treatment of diabetes, will receive a grant of $10,000 from the Ontario Government. The report of the special committee dealing with the bill is adopted by the House.

France Warns Turkey

Over Military Move

On Syrian Frontier

The Turkish statement says:

"After all, we are still at war with the allies and Greece, and have a perfect right to maintain troops where we think fit."

Turkey has about 30,000 troops in Cilicia, the French about 16,000 troops, chiefly colonials.

The French representative further explained that no time limit was attached to the notification to Turkey, and there was no reason why the Lausanne negotiations could not continue at least for the present.

In conference circles the general impression prevailed that the Franco-Turkish controversy would be adjusted and would not be the cause of a second collapse of the Near East conference.

The second phase of the conference, which Lausanne is now witnessing, is mainly a financial and economic battle between Turkey and Great Britain on territorial questions, like Mosul.

France's protest against the troops in Cilicia is approved by the British delegation.

Big Valley Note—Evan Schumaker, who was arrested by Constable Moriarty on Sunday, April the 29th, for having in his possession a large still for the manufacture of liquor, was fined $200 and costs, or six months hard labor. The fine was paid. As this is the second still seized by Constable Moriarty, within a month, the moonshiners are on the run in the Big Valley district.

A car driven by a drunken youth was upset west of town during the still hours of Tuesday night. On Wednesday morning the occupants appeared before Magistrate Gresham, who in addition to imposing a stiff fine on the driver, issued a timely warning to the effect that should he ever appear before him again a jail sentence would be meted out.

The local school baseball team won the second league game from Bellevue on Saturday last by a score of 10 to 6. A feature of the game was Brown's superb pitching in the Blairmore box. Bellevue broke away in the last of the ninth inning and scored three runs. Keys, in the box for Bellevue, was a little wild, walking several men. The Blairmore lineup was: G. Bond, c.; C. Brown, p.; J. Houbregts, 1b; G. Webb, 2b; C. Howe, ss; D. Gosse, 3b; D. Kemp, lf; R. Pinkney, cf; R. Thompson, rf; F. Briabois, rf. Umpires—W. Eggleston, W. T. Young.

In a little town in northern Manitoba named Hellowa a newspaper is published. In a recent issue of that paper the following wedding account appeared: "A large number of sympathetic friends were present at a Hellowa wedding which took place at the house of Parson and Mrs. Kiehell on Sunday evening, when Joe Forked became responsible for the future care of Mary Buknee. The bride was terribly tired, as was also her attendants. The groom looked intoxicating in a beautiful suit of bottle straw and carried a bouquet of white carnations and bullrushes. Little Misses Rush and Spill carried corsages for the gentlemen, while Mike Rush rushed the moonshine. Articles presented by friends included a bill from the local dreamaker covering the past four years' account for dresses, etc., and from the jeweler and theatre man for jewelry and lunches served during the time of 'watchmaking.' This paper joins in sympathy for both the distracted parties."

A HORRIBLE SUSPICION

While a travelling menagerie was passing through Scotland the baboon died. The manager of the show was in a hurry so didn't bother to bury the brute but flung it out on the road. Two Highlanders found the body and puzzled over it hard.

"She's no be a MacKintosh," said the first, "for they haen't got red hair."

"An she's no a MacPerson neither nor a Campbell whatever, I for they are a kind of lang in the timb."

"I wonder wha' she'll be at all at all," questioned the first again, "but I'll tell ye. We'll tak' a run up to the big house, and see if they've missed any o' the English vassitors."

The baseball competition in connection with the May Day labor demonstration concluded this week, when the winners of the Friday night game, Bellevue, were defeated by the Blairmore team to the tune of 9 to 6.

When the old lady saw the magician cover a newspaper with a heavy flannel cloth and read it, she rose in her seat and said: "I am going home, this ain't no place for a lady in a flannel dress."

A colored woman demanded a refund on a pair of hose recently purchased. The floor walker asked: "Madam, did they not come up to your expectations?" "Lady, no," she answered. "They hardly come up to mah knees."

A few weeks ago we announced that Mr. J. D'Appollonia had left Coleman on a visit to his home in Italy. To correct a misunderstanding that has arisen, we might say that this item referred to J. D'Appollonia, senior, and not Contractor J. S. D'Appollonia.

At Nelson, the damage case, which has been on trial, was decided last week in favor of the defendant company, Lindsay Brothers Company, in this case the Hall Cedar Co., composed of Max H. Baskin and Peter Verisig, sought to collect $400,000 damages, as well as a large amount for poles and other manufactured products.

We have passed some sixty thousand laws, I am told, in the last three years. But it is pure evasion. No more laws, but more obedience to the law is what we need. The cure for this thing is to return to the faith of our fathers who taught their children the fundamental principles of right and wrong, believing that it was better to put a censor in the soul of a child than to hire a censor to sit in judgement for him.—Rev. Edward Hills.
